NOTES AND COMMENTS.

What a curious suggestion the Daily Press made this morning in its leader on the subject of Monseigneur CHAUSSE's letter, and of the cure mentioned therein. He doubts, apparently, whether the young man cured by Dr. YERSIN was suffering from plague or not. He wants more evidence. Well, we can furnish some. We had the pleasure of seeing and conversing with the Doctor yesterday, and he assured us that it was a very unmistakable and a very severe case of plague. all the worst symptoms being visible and well developed. Perhaps our contemporary would like to suggest that neither the Bishop nor Dr. YERSIN know plague when they see it. During 1894 Monseigneur Chausse saw very many cases and very many deaths, and Dr. Ymnsin has spent the last two years in the investigazion of plague, to the exclusion of everything else. He was here in Hongkong during 1894, when the disease was at its worst, and he made its acquaintance in very closely. He has established his glow being due to the action of electricity possible form and studied laboratory not near Halphong or anywhere in Tonkin, but close to Salgon, and he hopes early next year to pay a visit to Yunnan and examine the plague in its modern oradie.

From inquiries made to-day we are in a position to state that every facility was offered Dr. YERRIN by the Colonial amount of electricity required in the Surgeon, under the direction of the Governor, for the trial of his remedy, but unfortunately all the cases were either dead or convalescent when he arrived here: hence his visit to Canton and now to Amoy. summer," nor does one successful cure, or with the following remarks by the ma. A CURE FOR BUBONIC PLAGUE.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY BY DR. YERSIN. The Right Rev. Bishop Chausse, of Canton, writes as follows to our morning contempo-

I owe some gratitude to Dr. Yersin, and in the public interest I ask you to afford me space In your columns to make known the circumstances. You are aware that in 1894 Dr. Yersin, of the Pasteur Institute at Paris, came to Hongkong to study on the spot the famous bubonic plague, which was committing such raveges at Canton and Hongkong. At that time he sent a large quantity of the bacilli of the plague to Dr. Roux, the Inventor of the scrum against diphtheria. These inicrobes were cultivated at the Institute. Dr. Yersin himself has established a laboratory at Nhia Trang, in Tonkin, where he keeps twenty horses for the preparation of serum to be used against several of the epidemic diseases of these tropical regions, such as bubonic plague, cattle plague, etc. He had already made many successful experiments on rats affected with the plague, but he had not yet tried his serum upon man. It was with this object that he landed the other day at Hongkong. On the morning of the 26th June he was at Canton, not having as yet had the opportunity of trying his semedy.

At three o'clock in the afternoon he came to see me, as he did in 1894. As we shook hands I said, "Doctor, you have arrived most opportunely. A case of plague has occurred this morning in our establishment and if you have discovered any remedy for this terrible disease since your last visit I will be very grateful if rey itdows. Great confidence you will employ it upon this young man. The case is pressing, a very painful bube has formed being a very energetic and on the thigh, the lever is intense, and the young man is completely prostrated; it is an affair of twenty-four hours." "I am glad of this opportunity," said the good doctor; "I have brought with me the remedy, rray Rumery, R.N., Harbour for this microbe and I hope to succeed in turing your pupil. There is absolutely nothing to fear. will take a dose myself before you. It is. moreover, a preservative against the plague, at least for a month. If you like, I will inoculate all your pupils and you may be, assured the plague will not visit them up to the end of July.'

"Bat, doctor," I said, "your discovery is a marvel. Let us attend first to what is most pressing, and then we will see."

The dector took from his bug two or three bottles fell of a limpid fluid, slightly reddish, the quantity in each being about a tablespoonful. "How, doctor!" I said, " is it with that you are going to destroy the deadly microbes of the plague?" "Yes;" said he, "it is a terrible enemy for them. It is their own venom." "Then let us get on," said I; " as you answer for everything I repeat full confidence in you. You will be the saviour of this youth."

The doctor then showed me a small syringe fine as a needle. " It is with that," he added. hat China has been pestered a that the liquid is introduced beneath the skin," ... by Reasts demanding these I The instrument was something like the needle makings as sh is, China would with which the Chinese inject morphine in the case of opium smokers. The young man was in bed, somnolent. The doctor took his syringe, gently drew the piston, and the whole of the contents of a bettle were slowly drawn in, passing through the needle, the and that tyo data previously | point of which was in the liquid. It was five o'clock in the evenion.

It was night. The doctor would not for an instant leave the young man, but remained by his bedside all night to see what effects the remedy produced. Everything went on without accident

As their petitions have been disregarded, the traders have now taken the first step of passive opposition, and an order has been issued that all the shops in the town and within a radius of three miles shall close their doors. No secret is made of their intention to adopt stronger measures if this is not successful, and the next sten will be to burn down the likin statious and annihilate all the likin efficials who do not take the hint and make themselves scarce in time. The matter has now been referred to the head likin officials in Shanghai, and the result will no doubt be the Ropes have ber triumph of the traders for the time. We do not | are in the mask wouch for the truth of this story, but it is a perfectly possible event, and such events are continually occurring all over China. The likin: taxation throughout China is not excessive, being kept down by the feeling of the people as well as by the competition between different trade routes. As the Chinkiang Chamber of Commerce say in their report to Mr. Brenan. "on the whole it is not apparent that the exactions have any marked effect on trade." Thus the prospect is serious, as the people will not stand any material increase in the local taxation. Very rarely a thoroughly honest and capable official like Li Ping-heng, the present Governor of Shantung, rises to power, who can materially increase the net yield of the taxes to the government by honest administration.

Nearly all the Powers have already consented to a greater increase in Tapan. But the Powers should, if there is any possibility of getting them to agree on the subject. make it a condition that the finances of the Empire should be regulated, if necessary, by the constitution of a financial department of State under foreign management, as the Mark time Customs is. Every one will be the gainer by this, except the men through whose hands the collection goes, and many of them no doubt would giadly change their present precarious gains for a regular sufficient salary. But to the tempayers, the central government, and the proviscial governments it would be an unmixed blessing, and there is some reason believe that only some step of this kind cin save the Empire from a really serious rebellies.-N.
